

Jenine Lawson Brown is a Ph.D. student in music theory at the Eastman School of Music. Her research addresses musical expectation, and plans to write a dissertation on the kinds of expectations listeners acquire when listening to atonal music. Brown has presented her findings at the conference meetings of the Society for Music Perception and Cognition and the Society of Ethnomusicology-Niagara, and has taught music theory at Ithaca College from 2007-9. She also currently serves as co-editor of Intégral.
